The renovation and addition to this period home was borne out of the owners' desire to create the perfect home for entertaining. The new three-storey extension accommodates a beautiful new staircase with highlight windows above, and the existing windows in the meals/living area have been replaced with double-glazed extruded vinyl exterior and internal oak timber-framed windows. The new balcony constructed on the upper floor looks down on the self-contained elevated studio with ensuite, constructed on top of a steel-framed carport with space for two cars.
